

40th ANNUAL REPORT 2016-17

Acquisition Criteria

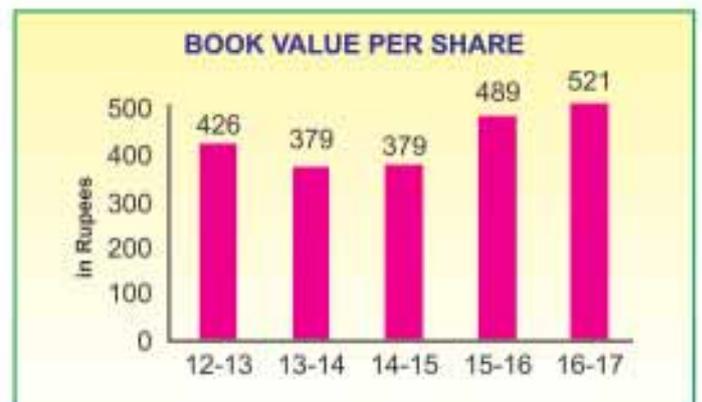

We use this space to communicate with potential sellers and their representatives, what we look for in a potential acquisition. If you, the reader, have no personal connection with a business that might be of interest to us but have a friend who does, perhaps you could pass this message on to him.

Here's the sort of business we are looking for:

1. Enterprise value in the region of Rs. 100 crores (Rs. 1 billion),
2. Demonstrated consistent earning power (future projections are of little interest to us, nor are "turnaround" situations),
3. Businesses earning good returns on equity while employing little or no debt,
4. Management in place,
5. Simple businesses,
6. An offering price.

We will not engage in unfriendly takeovers. We can promise complete confidentiality and a very fast answer as to whether we are interested. We prefer to buy for cash, but will consider issuing stock when we receive as much in intrinsic business value as we give.

Our favourite form of purchase is one where the company's owner-managers generate significant amounts of cash, sometimes for themselves, but often for their families or inactive shareholders. At the same time, these managers wish to remain significant owners who continue to run their companies just as they have in the past. We think we offer a particularly good fit for owners with such objectives. We invite potential sellers to check us out by contacting people with whom we have done business in the past.

Notes :

1. All data is for financial years and includes dividends paid, if any.
2. The Nifty-50 numbers are pre-tax and assume that dividends were reinvested, whereas the numbers for Revathi are after tax.
3. We think our investors should measure our performance against their general experience in the equity markets. While the Nifty-50 is not perfect (nor is anything else) as a measure of performance, it has the advantage of being widely known and reflects with reasonable accuracy the experience of investors generally with the market.
4. The reason we have used the "growth in book value" as against stock price is, that over time, we intend measuring our performance by checking if a rupee retained has created a rupee worth of market value.
5. If you expect, as we do, that owning a representative stock index would produce reasonably satisfactory results over a period of time, it follows that, for long-term investors, gaining small advantages over that index must prove rewarding.

Our increase in consolidated net worth at the end of FY17 was ₹ 96 million, which increased the per share book value by 6.4%. Over the last fifteen years (that is, since the present owners took over) per share book value, has grown from ₹ 151 to ₹ 521 (₹ 598 after ignoring the effect of goodwill write-offs), which, after factoring in dividend paid during this period, works out to a rate of 8.9% (9.8%) compounded annually.

In my letter to shareholders in FY06, I had written about the threat that our business faces from global warming, from which an extract is reproduced below.

"In the long-term, there is an even more serious issue that faces every manufacturer of capital goods for the coal mining industry. That factor is global warming. So far, most of the talk about global warming has merely been, in scientific parlance, 'noise'. However, as the supposed effects of global warming begin to stare humanity in the face, in the form of a growing frequency of natural calamities of increasing intensity, people are beginning to sit up and take notice. Insurance companies are beginning to tweak the premia they charge to cover risks from natural calamities. Thought leaders such as General Electric are beginning to use environment consciousness as a metric to measure employee performance. And GE's CEO, Jeff Immelt, is betting the company's future on green technologies. That to me signifies a serious change in people's attitudes about environment protection. And while that is a good thing for humanity, it is not so good for a company as dependent on coal as us!

What is unclear at this point is how quickly will these technologies become widespread and more specifically, how quickly will they get adopted in our own country. There are many reasons why their adoption in our country should be gradual. For starters, almost eighty percent of the coal produced in India is used by for generating power and producing steel and cement. For a nation, which is staring at a huge infrastructure deficit, an investment of this magnitude cannot be de-commissioned overnight. Perhaps equally importantly, the political incentives of feeding the families of over half a million employees that directly depend on Coal India for their livelihood are not small in a democratic nation.

However, it is clear that globally, coal mining will see a disruptive technology in the form of UCG and SCG. And as and when it gets adopted widely, which is now visible on the horizon, there could be important consequences for the mining equipment industry."

In this letter, I would like to revisit that subject and share my perspective on developments in the global energy industry and what impact that might have on Revathi's future prospects. Where you stand depends, of course, on where you sit. For example, we have spent much of our life in fossil fuels. That colors how we see the future. People who are deep into renewables almost certainly have a different perspective. A mother in Africa cooking over a wood-burning stove might have a third.

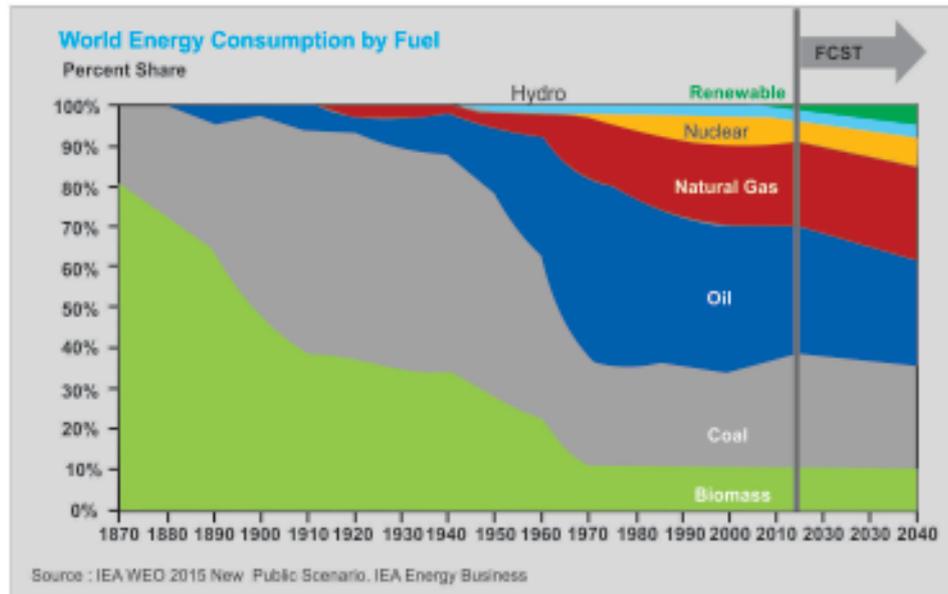

My view is that while "hockey stick growth" may apply to a company or an industry, it usually doesn't apply at a societal level. Transitions are usually gradual. Why do I think so? Let's look at some examples. Amazon was set up almost 25 years ago in 1994. Today, it has less than 5 per cent of the US retail sales market. Admittedly, it has about 50 per cent of the e-commerce market, but less than 5 per cent of the overall US retail market. And this is just the US market, not the global market. The market share in the UK market is also estimated at less than 5 per cent. AirBnB, which was founded ten years ago in August 2008 is estimated to have ended 2016 with a less than two per cent market share of the global vacation rental market. Notice the difference between a pure e-commerce company like AirBnB and the hybrid Amazon, which has to worry about building warehouses and delivering the stuff it sells. Pure e-commerce companies could potentially disrupt incumbents more rapidly. However, businesses that need to deliver a real product like shopping (or energy), are unlikely to cause disruption at a societal level any time soon.

I will now share some details on the global energy scenario in four parts. In the first part I will share the historical long-term trends in the global energy mix. In part two, I will discuss the projections to 2040 that have been put out by the International Energy Agency or the IEA. The third part will deal with Global Coal and in the final part, I will share my perspective on what all this means for Revathi.

A brief history of the shifts in the global energy basket

Over the past decade or so, the debate has shifted from clean coal technologies to renewable energy to storage technologies to solar fuels. The shift from fossil fuels to clean energy is imminent. That is the bad news (as a shareholder of Revathi) (or good news if you are a tree hugger like me). The good news is that energy transitions take generations as evidenced by this chart published by the oil giant Chevron.

Energy transitions take generations

As recently as 150 years ago biomass supplied the vast bulk of world energy. It was gradually displaced by coal. Then came oil, which is now being displaced by natural gas and a combination of nuclear, hydro and renewable sources. It took four decades for oil to go from 5 percent of the world's energy supply to 25 percent. Today, renewable energy sources like wind and solar account for less than 5 percent of the world's energy sources.

Of the 7.5 billion people on our planet, about 2.7 billion still burn solid fuels such as wood, crop residue and dung to cook their food. And despite the depth and breadth of today's energy market, there are still about 1.3 billion people in the world without electricity. Of this 1.3 billion, 300 million live in India. Most forecasts predict global energy demand to rise by around one third or more by 2040 as populations grow, incomes rise and people all over the world strive for the standard of life we enjoy today. To meet those needs we will need all forms of energy - renewables, nuclear and fossil fuels

The projected impact of The Paris Agreement

The international political response to climate change began at the Rio Earth Summit in 1992, where the 'Rio Convention' included the adoption of the UN Framework on Climate Change (UNFCCC). This convention set out a framework for action aimed at stabilising atmospheric concentrations of greenhouse gases (GHGs). The UNFCCC which came into force on 21 March 1994, now has a near-universal membership comprising 195 countries. The main objective of the annual Conference of Parties (COP) is to review the Convention's implementation. The first COP took place in Berlin in 1995 and significant meetings since then have included COP3 where the Kyoto Protocol was adopted.

In 2015 COP21 took place, which is also known as the 2015 Paris Agreement, which deals with GHG emissions mitigation starting in the year 2020. The agreement was adopted by consensus by representatives of 196 parties on 12 December 2015. The US later withdrew from COP21.

The International Energy Agency, which was set up in 1974, is the premier body that tracks the global energy industry. It puts out an annual publication titled World Energy Outlook, which, as the name suggests, is a primer on the status of world energy and where it is likely headed. The IEA has modeled some scenarios based on COP21. The table below presents these scenarios.

World primary energy demand by fuel and scenario (Mtoe)

Mtoe: million tons of oil equivalent.

Current Policies Scenario assumes no changes in policies from the mid-point of the year of publication (previously called the Reference Scenario).

New Policies Scenario serves as the IEA baseline scenario. It takes account of broad policy commitments and plans that have been announced by countries, including national pledges to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and plans to phase out fossil-energy subsidies, even if the measures to implement these commitments have yet to be identified or announced. This is regarded as the central baseline scenario.

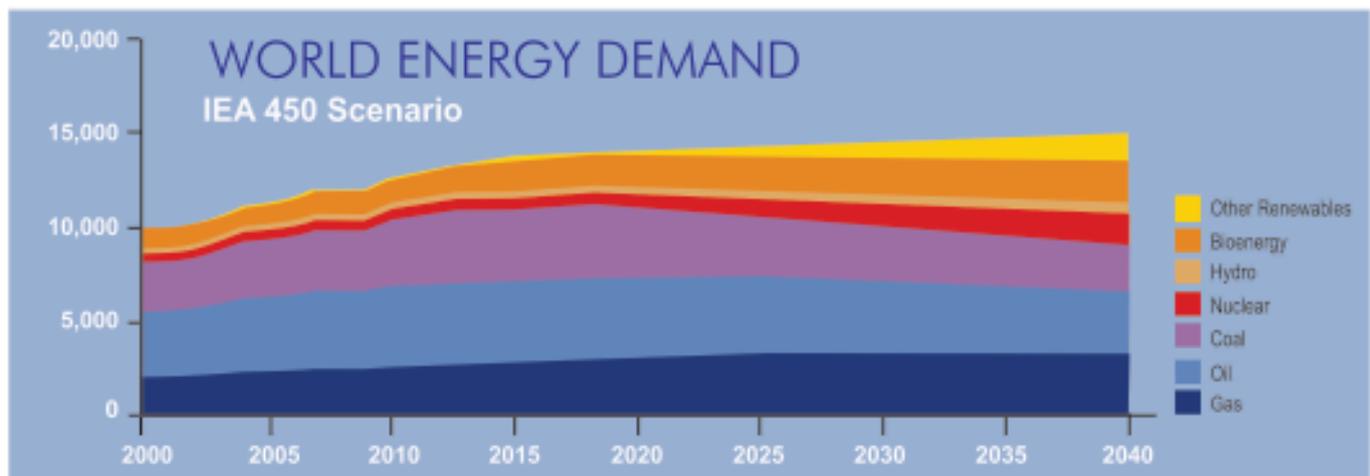

450 Scenario sets out an energy pathway consistent with the goal of having around a 50% chance of limiting the global increase in temperature to 2° C in the long-term (by 2100), as compared with pre-industrial levels. The world will require significant policy change to achieve this scenario.

Today, oil, gas and coal account for about 80 per cent of primary energy supply world-wide. A global network of mines, oil and gas fields, power plants, pipelines, refineries, filling stations and distribution systems that has been developed over the past 150 years, is in operation. $55 trillion of energy-related infrastructure uses fossil fuels, which is the equivalent of 70% of global GDP. A change in energy mix will require an enormous investment through the global economy including light vehicles (typical lifespan of 15 years), heating systems (20 years), aircrafts (25 years), commercial shipping (25 years), power plants (40 years), etc. It is not possible to replace the energy system in a short time frame.

Over the last 30 years biofuels have grown to reach just a 3 per cent share of global transport fuels after decades of R&D. Biomass still makes up 10 per cent of total primary energy. Renewables (solar, wind and hydro) are developing quickly, and are making impressive inroads into decarbonising the power sector. However, renewables and nuclear currently account for only 4 per cent each of primary energy supply.

Low-carbon power generation - renewables in tandem with natural gas - has enormous potential, and yet it has just an 18 per cent market share of energy consumption today.

China and the United States, along with fast growth of renewables and strong focus on energy efficiency.

An analysis of the pledges made at the Paris Agreement suggests that the era of fossil fuels appears far from over. In a sign of coal's paradoxical position, the world is still highly dependent on coal. China accounts for 50% of global coal demand and almost half of coal production. A major geographic shift has been underway in the global coal market towards Asia. In 2000, about half of coal demand was in Europe and North America. By 2015, Asia accounted for almost three-quarters of coal demand, while coal consumption in Europe and North America had declined sharply below one quarter. This shift could accelerate in the coming years.

In the United States, coal consumption dropped by 15 per cent in 2015, precipitated by competition from cheap natural gas, cheaper renewable power - notably wind - and regulations to reduce air pollutants that led to coal plant retirements. This was the largest annual decline ever, reaching levels not seen in more than three decades. Looking ahead, the rate of decline is expected to fall to 1.6 per cent per year, much slower than 6.2 per cent decline over the past five years, as higher gas prices result in less coal-to-gas switching.

Coal demand is moving to Asia, where emerging economies with growing populations are seeking affordable and secure energy sources to power their economies. Because it is relatively affordable and widely available, coal remains the world's number one fuel for generating electricity, producing steel and making cement. It provides almost 30 per cent of the world's primary energy, declining to 27 per cent by 2021. As a data point, coal supplied 1,520 Mtoe of the 3,292 Mtoe of additional global primary energy supply from 2000 to 2012 or 46% of added energy.

Natural gas, wind and solar are expected to contribute significantly to energy basket over the next 25 years to 2040. But there is no single story about the future of global energy. In practice, government policies will determine where we go from here. The recent backtracking by the US government on its commitment to COP21 demonstrates how complex the terrain is. For the sake of the planet, we can only hope that governments will be more mindful of the long-term than the short-term, while creating their energy policy.

Outlook for India

When the current government assumed office in 2014, they made some big bang announcements about significantly ramping up coal production in the country to meet our growing energy needs and also to reduce our trade deficit. Action followed the announcement and coal production rose from 462 million tons in 2014 to 554 million in 2017 at a compounded growth rate of 9.5%. This was almost double the long-term growth rate of coal production in the country.

However, factors like the financial health of State Electricity Boards, logistics bottlenecks, limited storage capacity at mines and power plant site, power plants designed on the basis of quality of imported coal, etc. have meant that the coal production has not grown as much the Government's projections. While some of these issues do not have a short-term remedy, some issues are getting the attention of policy makers. Given the complex issues involved, these will not allow for a instant fix that can contribute to a more robust demand for coal in the short-term.

However, factors like the financial health of State Electricity Boards, logistics bottlenecks, limited storage capacity at mines and power plant site, power plants designed on the basis of quality of imported coal, etc. have meant that the coal production has not grown as much the Government's projections. While some of these issues do not have a short-term remedy, some issues are getting the attention of policy makers. Given the complex issues involved, these will not allow for a instant fix that can contribute to a more robust demand for coal in the short-term.

So where are things headed in the medium- to long-term? The contribution of coal in the overall energy mix will go down, but in absolute terms, I expect coal production to grow, even though the rate of growth will perhaps be in the low- to mid-single digits. Here are some factors that I believe will keep India dependent on coal for the foreseeable future. Compared with global averages, we have low per capita energy consumption, massive investments have already been made in coal power assets (which contribute about 60 per cent of India's power generation and which typically have a useful life of about forty years), demand for essential commodities like steel and cement, both of which use coal in the production process, will rise significantly as we build the country's infrastructure and as the urbanisation trend gathers pace, we have vast coal deposits, which reduce our dependency on other nations and which continues to be a cheap source of energy, significant employment created by the steel, cement and power industries alongwith upstream and downstream industries (which has perhaps been a factor that has led to the US pulling out of COP21, at least for now), banks have lent significant money to coal and coal dependent sectors, etc.

What does this mean for Revathi?

In an environment where the world is cooperating as never before to bring down emissions of green house gases, the global energy narrative being dominated by the new wave of renewables, equity markets saying coal is as good as dead (US coal mining companies have lost over 90 per cent of their market capitalisation over the past few years), it is easy to write off coal and companies dependent on the coal economy.

However, there is an alternative narrative. As coal becomes a sunset industry, capital that typically chases earnings growth will get scarce for the coal industry. Existing players will reduce their exposure to verticals that depend on coal for producing earnings. This is already visible. Atlas Copco. which has been regarded as the most focused and perhaps the most efficient player in our industry recently announced that they are hiving off their Mining Division into a new company. The stated intent is to create two companies which will be more focused on each business - industrial and mining. However, they have not allowed the mining business to continue to use the Atlas Copco brand. This is unusual and therefore intriguing. Of course time will tell what the real intent is behind this strategic move.

The other industry trend that has been playing out over the past decade is that of consolidation. Several players like Joy Global and Bucyrus have been acquired by larger players like Komatsu and Caterpillar. When consolidation happens, usually the profit margins of the industry tend to get better. Larger players usually tend to go up the features and price curve over time. This is of course a conscious choice that they make to maintain their margins on an increasing cost base. However, this strategy also makes them uncompetitive on the no-frills range, which is our core market.

I now turn to our company's performance. The highlight last year was in the Profit & Loss Statement, which swung back to profits after four years of strife. As a result of that performance, the big highlight this year was the restructuring of the balance sheet. We paid down ₹ 532 million or almost two thirds of our debt to bring it down to a normalised level of ₹ 309 million. We are now back to the debt levels that we had in FY06. Once we are able to conclude a few more strategic initiatives such as monetising the surplus land outside Chennai, these levels should fall further.

As a result of a strong performance, we were also able to bring down our cost of debt from c.14 per cent to sub 10 per cent, helped in no small measure by a declining interest rate environment. Given the size of our limits, it made no sense to have a relationship with seven banks. Therefore, as we were paying down debt, we selectively kept only those relationships that had been most supportive during the tough years and shifted our limits to them. This has meant that we are now giving them more business as our way of saying thank you for supporting us during difficult times.

Barring the interim strife years (FY12 to FY15), we have been clocking an EBIDTA of c. ₹ 200 million. However, since FY09, we have been paying almost half of that towards interest on loans. With decreasing loan balances and falling interest rates, the interest burden fell from an average of c.₹100 million to ₹ 72 million.

Adjusted for the extraordinary income we had in FY16 (from part sale of our Chembur investment), our year-on-year pre-tax profit fell 17 per cent in FY17 to ₹ 150 million. Going forward, our profitability should stay at similar levels, barring some major positive or negative event.

I had written last year that we had initiated a major change initiative at Semac to integrate various offices into One Semac. I had indicated that such disruptive change will create some short-term pain. Given where things are at present, this pain is likely to continue for at least another year.

Capacity utilization in most industries has been at a level that allows for some headroom for expansion without incurring fresh capital expenditure. This saw capex growth slip to a 25-year low last year. By way of perspective the previous low was recorded at the turn of the century, when the dot com bubble had burst. Last year was worse than that. Stretched bank balance sheets have not helped matters either. As a result, businesses are either not investing in expanding capacity or are deferring these decisions.

Tough times are great in many ways. They help us cut costs we had taken on when business was doing well. More importantly, such times force you to focus harder on your value proposition vis-à-vis competition. It is sort of like a forest fire or a medical diagnosis. It is a mini crisis, which will clean up the jungle and force a lifestyle change for the better. That journey of becoming stronger is on.

We had originally hired five people at the Corporate level to bring in the transition. Of those, one fell so ill that he had to, sadly, stop working. Of the balance four, two continue with us, one was asked to step down and we replaced one. The person we had to replace was unfortunately the CEO. Our current CEO joined the business at the start of the current financial year. With this, I am hoping to correct the mistake I made the last time.

Our hit rate on senior hiring has been fifty per cent. Jack Welch admitted that when he was younger, he used to hire the right people only about 50 per cent of the time. While this gives me some solace, each hiring mistake, especially at senior levels has a massive impact on the business. It is estimated that financially, the cost of a mis-hire is 5-27x of the person's salary. This does even count the impact s/he has on the organization culture, etc. Over time, I have improved my batting average, but if there was one skill I would like to master, it would be hiring better. For once you hire the right person or team, they tend to surprise you on the positive side.

Due to the internal and external factors described above, our Revenues shrank by ₹ 15 crores. Though we cut costs in some places, we added costs in some other places, with the result that the entire reduction in the topline fell to the bottom. In absolute terms, we went from a pre-tax profit of Rs.10 crores last year to a loss of Rs.4 crores this year. Adjusted for taxes and minority interest, our profit shrank from ₹ 5 crores to a loss of ₹ 5 crores.

As mentioned elsewhere in this report, some of our bankers stood by us when the going got tough. They believed in us and they trusted our ability to bounce back. My sincere thanks to them for reposing faith when plenty of others had started writing us off. I would equally like to thank all our shareholders for living with the trauma of paper losses for years. It has been a difficult journey for everyone. We will make sure it was worth it.

Net Sales of your company decreased by 15% to ₹ 118.74 Crores in FY 17 from ₹ 140.28 Crores in FY 16. In FY 16, the company was fortunate to execute water well order from Central Government Water Board to the tune of ₹ 30 Crores which was absent in FY 17 and hence the shortfall in FY 17 despite business with Coal India remained steady.

While profitability margin percentage improved, PBT in absolute terms was lower by ₹ 2 Crores due to lower sales.

Change in the Nature of Business, if any

There was no change in the nature of business of the Company during the financial year ended 31st March, 2017

Management discussion and analysis, Structure and Developments, opportunities and Threats, outlook, risk and concern:Overview of the Economy

India's economic growth is expected to remain flat at 7.1% in FY 18 as investment is still weak and Government spending might not be as high fiscal consolidation path.

As per World Economic Outlook, India's economy has grown at a strong pace in recent years owing to the implementation of critical structural reforms, favourable terms of trade, and lower external vulnerabilities.

Business Environment, Outlook & Prospects for FY 2017 - 18.

Coal production of Coal India Ltd.(CIL) for FY 17 was 554 million MT against target of 598 million MT, a drop of 7%.

In an unprecedented move, the Union government has reduced the production target for Coal India Ltd (CIL) from 660 million MT to 600 million MT in the current year due to tepid demand for the fuel from thermal power plants.

Central Government's focus on infrastructure growth and on coal sector with private sector participation, it is expected that demand for company's products should grow better in ensuing years.

Transfer to reserves

The Company has not transferred any amount to its reserves during the year under review. However, an amount of ₹ 1438.06 Lakhs of the current profit has been carried forward to the Surplus in the Profit and Loss account of the Company.

Dividend

In order to conserve resources the directors do not recommend any dividend for the year ended 31st March 2017.

Transfer of unclaimed dividend to Investor Education and Protection Fund

Since there was no unpaid/unclaimed Dividend, the provisions of Section 124 & 125 of the Companies Act, 2013 relating to transfer of Unclaimed dividend to Investor Education and Protection fund does not arise.

Share capital

The issued, subscribed and paid-up share capital of the Company as at 31.03.2017 stood at ₹ 3,06,69,430/- divided into 30,66,943 equity shares of ₹ 10/- each. During the year under review the Company has not made any fresh issue of shares.

Extract of annual return

The extract of Annual Return pursuant to the provisions of Section 92 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 12 of the Companies (Management and Administration) Rules, 2014, is furnished in Annexure A and is attached to this report.

Board meetings conducted during the period under review

During the year under review, 5 Meetings of the Board of Directors, 4 Meetings of the Audit Committee, 2 Meetings of the Nomination and Remuneration Committee, 4 Meetings of the Stakeholders Relationship Committee were held. Further details of the same have been enumerated in the Corporate Governance Report annexed herewith.

Directors' Responsibility Statement

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 134(3)(c) of the Companies Act 2013, with respect to Directors' Responsibility Statement, the Board hereby confirm that -

- a) in the preparation of the annual accounts, the applicable accounting standards had been followed and there were no material departure from those standards;

ANNEXURE B TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF REVATHI EQUIPMENT LIMITED DATED 29TH MAY, 2017

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") as referred to in paragraph 2(f) of 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Revathi Equipment Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the "Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India". These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, as specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness.

Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that:

- a) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- b) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and
- c) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2017, based on "the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India"

REVATHI EQUIPMENT LIMITEDNOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31ST MARCH, 2017*1. Corporate Information

Revathi Equipment Limited ("the Company") was incorporated as a private company and was registered under the Companies Act 1956 on May 13, 1977. The Company was subsequently converted to a public company on November 4, 1977, and is currently listed on Bombay stock exchange and National Stock exchange. The Company is primarily engaged in the manufacturing and sales of drilling rigs and spares thereof.

These financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (₹).

2. Significant accounting policies2.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in India. The company has prepared these financial statements to comply in all material respects with the accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of Companies Act 2013, read with Rule 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 and the Companies (Accounting standards) amendments Rules 2016, as amended. These accounts have been prepared on accrual basis and under historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of financial statements are consistent with those of previous year.

2.2 Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

2.3 Fixed assetsTangible assets

Fixed assets except freehold land buildings, are stated at historical cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment loss if any. Historical cost comprises the purchase price (net of cenvat / duty credits wherever applicable) and all direct costs attributable to bringing the asset to its working condition for intended use. Subsequent expenditure related to an item of fixed assets is added to the booked value only if it increases the future benefit from the existing assets beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. All other expenses on existing fixed assets, including day to day repair and maintained and cost of replacing parts, are charged to statement of profit & loss for the period during which such expenses are incurred. Freehold land and buildings were revalued on June 30, 1985 and are stated at their revalued value.

Gains or losses arising from derecognition of fixed assets are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognized in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognized.

Intangible assets

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Following Initial recognition, assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, if any.

2.4 Depreciation / amortisationTangible assets

Depreciation on fixed assets is provided on straight line method on the basis of useful life of assets at the rates prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013. All assets costing ₹ 5,000 or below are fully depreciated in the year of addition.

On amount added on revaluation, difference between depreciation for the year based on revalued amount of the fixed assets and depreciation based on its original cost is transferred to general reserve.

Intangible assets

Intangible assets- computer software are amortized over a period over the period of 3 to 5 years on a straight-line basis & technical knowhow are amortised over the period of three years on straight-line basis.

2.5 Impairment

Fixed assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date for impairment. In case events and circumstances indicate any impairment, recoverable amount of the fixed assets is determined. An impairment loss is recognised, whenever the carrying amount of assets either belonging to Cash Generating Unit (CGU) or otherwise exceeds recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is greater of assets' net selling price or its value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows from the use of assets are discounted to their present value at appropriate rate. An impairment loss is reversed if there has been change in the recoverable amount and such loss either no longer exists or has decreased. Impairment loss/reversal thereof, which in case of CGU, are allocated to its assets on a pro-rata basis, is adjusted to carrying value of the respective assets.

2.6 Borrowing cost

Borrowing cost includes interest and amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings. Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalized as part of the cost of the respective asset. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period they occur.

2.7 Investments

Investments that are readily realizable and intended to be held for not more than a year are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as long-term investments. Current investments are carried at lower of cost and fair value. Long-term investments are carried at cost individually. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognize a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments in case of long term investments.

2.8 Inventories

Raw materials, stores and spares are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of raw materials and stores and spares is determined on a first in first out basis.

Work in progress, Finished goods and traded goods are valued at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost includes direct materials and labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. Cost of finished goods includes excise duty. Cost is determined on First in First out basis.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

The Company has an Employee Gratuity Fund managed by Life Insurance Corporation. The provision made during the year is charged to Statement of Profit and Loss.

Deferred tax consequences of timing differences that originate in the tax holiday period and reverse after the tax holiday period are recognised in the period in which the timing differences originate.

2.14 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Partly paid equity shares are treated as a fraction of an equity share to the extent that they are entitled to participate in dividends relative to a fully paid equity share during the reporting period. The weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events such as bonus issue, bonus element in a rights issue, share split, and reverse share split (consolidation of shares) that have changed the number of equity shares outstanding, without a corresponding change in resources.

2.15 Provisions and contingent liabilities

A provision is recognized when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. Annexure A to the Independent Auditor's Report on the Consolidated Financial Statement to the members of Revathi Equipment Limited dated May 29, 2017

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") as referred to in paragraph 2(f) of 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section

Our reporting on the internal financial controls over financial reporting is not applicable in respect of one step down subsidiary incorporated outside India.

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statement of Revathi Equipment Limited as of and for the year ended March 31, 2017 We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Revathi Equipment Limited (hereinafter referred to as the "Holding Company") and its one subsidiary (the Holding Company and its subsidiary together referred to as "the Group"), incorporated in India, as of the date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Board of Directors of the Holding Company and its subsidiary company, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the "Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India". These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Group internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, as specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness.

Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained, and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors in terms of their reports referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of consolidated financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that:

- a) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- b) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and
- c) Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Holding Company and one subsidiary company, which are companies incorporated in India, have, maintained in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2017, based on "the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India"

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

3.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in India. The company has prepared these financial statements to comply in all material respects with the accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of Companies Act 2013, read with Rule 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 and the Companies (Accounting standards) amendments Rules 2016, as amended. These accounts have been prepared on accrual basis and under historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of financial statements are consistent with those of previous year.

3.2 Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods. Contingencies are recorded when it is probable that a liability will be incurred and the amount can reasonably be estimated.

3.3 Fixed assets & Deprecation

Tangible fixed assets

Fixed assets except freehold land buildings, are stated at historical cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment loss if any. Historical cost comprises the purchase price (net of cenvat / duty credits wherever applicable) and all direct costs attributable to bringing the asset to its working condition for intended use. Subsequent expenditure related to an item of fixed assets is added to the booked value only if it increases the future benefit from the existing assets beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. All other expenses on existing fixed assets, including day to day repair and maintenance and cost of replacing parts, are charged to Statement of Profit & Loss for the period during which such expenses are incurred. Freehold land and buildings were revalued on June 30, 1985 and are stated at their revalued value.

Gains or losses arising from derecognition of fixed assets are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognized in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognized.

Intangible fixed assets

Capital expenditure on purchase and development of identifiable non-monetary assets without physical substance is recognized as intangible assets in accordance with principles given under AS-26 – Intangible assets. These are grouped and separately shown under the schedule of fixed assets. These are amortized over their respective expected useful lives.

3.4 Depreciation / amortisation

Tangible fixed assets

Depreciation on fixed assets is provided on straight line method on the basis of useful life of assets at the rates prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013. All assets costing ₹ 5,000 or below are fully depreciated in the year of addition.

On amount added on revaluation, difference between depreciation for the year based on revalued amount of the fixed assets and depreciation based on its original cost is transferred to General Reserve.

Intangible fixed assets

Intangible assets- Computer software are amortized over the period of 3 to 5 years on a straight-line basis & technical knowhow are amortised over the period of three years on straight line basis.

An impairment loss is recognised, whenever the carrying amount of assets either belonging to Cash Generating Unit (CGU) or otherwise exceeds recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is greater of assets' net selling price or its value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows from the use of assets are discounted to their present value at appropriate rate. An impairment loss is reversed if there has been change in the recoverable amount and such loss either no longer exists or has decreased. Impairment loss/reversal thereof, which in case of CGU, are allocated to its assets on a pro-rata basis, is adjusted to carrying value of the respective assets.

However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognize a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments in case of long term investments.

3.8 Inventories

Raw materials, stores and spares are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of raw materials and stores and spares is determined on a first in first out basis.

Work in progress, finished goods and traded goods are valued at lower of cost and net realisable value. A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond the control of the Company or a present obligation that is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognized because it cannot be measured reliably.
